1 Party Wall Informative

This permission does not remove the need to obtain any separate consent of the owner of the adjoining property prior to commencing building works on, under, above or immediately adjacent to their property (e.g. foundations or guttering). The Party Wall Etc. Act 1996 contains requirements to serve notice on adjoining owners of property under certain circumstances, and a procedure exists for resolving disputes. This is a matter of civil law between the two parties, and the Local Planning Authority are not involved in such matters.

A free guide called "The Party Wall Etc Act 1996: Explanatory Booklet" is available on the website of the Department for Communities and Local Government.

This written notice indicates that the proposed development would comply with A4 of Schedule 2 Part 1 Class A of the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015.

It is important to note that this written notice DOES NOT indicate whether or not the proposed development would comply with any of the other limitations or conditions of Schedule 2 Part 1 Class A, or that the property has permitted development rights.

If you want formal confirmation that the proposed development would be lawful on the basis that it would comply with ALL of the limitations and conditions of Schedule 2 Part 1 Class A - then you should submit an application to the Local Planning Authority for a Certificate of Lawfulness.

It is a requirement of the above condition A.4 that the development shall be carried out in accordance with the information that the developer provided to the Local Planning Authority.
